Summary: LATE FILED. AUGMENTATION REQUIRED. On January 12, 2001, Ron Knecht of Advocates for the Public Interest (API), met with Jonathan Lakritz, advisor to Cmmr. Wood. Knecht stated that the primary interest in these cases revolves around whether there are any net synergies and other social benefits to the merger and acquisition (M&A) and whether the particulars of the proposal would efficiently, equitably, reasonably and in a balanced way distribute the benefits among the ratepayer, investor and other parties. Knecht noted that, traditionally, utility stockholders have reaped only the portion of such benefits, while the lion's share has accrued to ratepayers. Knecht argued that it is reasonable to depart from this standard only to the minimum extent necessary. Knecht pointed out that the target firms carry very few risks, while California American Water Company and the ratepayers carry large risks. Knecht stated that these facts show the merger and acquisition as proposed is not in the public interest due to its mal-distribution of costs, benefits and risks. Knecht urged the Commission to either condition any approval of the proposed M&A on reduction in the acquisition premia or to deny the application.

The letter urges the Commission to ignore TURN's letter since TURN speculates on the outcome of future proceedings.

Summary: On January 25, 2001, Shirley Woo, attorney, Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E), initiated a telephone call to Lynne McGhee, advisor to Cmmr. Duque. Also present during the conversation were Brian Cherry and Bill Stock, Managers, PG&E, and Doreen Ludemann and Bob Monti, Attorneys, PG&E Corporation. Woo explained that the December petitions requested authorization to increase the limits for short-term and long-term debt for PG&E, and to allow accounts receivables financing. Woo indicated that although PG&E is not able to access the financial markets currently, it needs to have sufficient authorization to use a variety of financing vehicles when financial institutions once again are willing to lend to PG&E. Stock and Woo explained that December petitions were separate from the petition filed in January for authorization to use accounts receivables as security for purchases of core gas. Ludemann and Monti stated that any blanket ban on secured financing at this time would have a negative effect on PG&E's ability to obtain financing.
